

Marks Found on Japanese Enfield Bayonets

Two scabbards found with kanji on the front, one with a capture tag remaining. The left one translates to: 951, right one; 1864.

This is a variety of foreign arsenals found on Japanese bayonets that were sold to or made for Japan. A few of the known: Felix, Weyersberg, A & A.S. (August & Albert Schnitzler), Kirschbaum, F.H. (Friedrich Herder), Leige (Dutch), P.D.L. (Paul D. Lünenschloss) and H & Co.

The chrysanthemum can be found in two different sizes, 5.5 mm and 3.1 mm, either on the crossguard or the base of the blade.
